

London Blue Plaque Scheme Nomination Form

SECTION I. Introduction

Thank you for your interest in the blue plaques scheme. Public nominations are the lifeblood of the London-wide plaques scheme and English Heritage welcomes nominations for plaques in London from private individuals and organisations alike.

Our consideration of nominations is based on the advice of an expert Blue Plaques Panel which carefully applies a set of selection criteria and ensures that shortlisted subjects are of the highest standard. The criteria are set out in full on the Blue Plaques pages of the English Heritage web site and are partially incorporated into this form.

Before you start

Before proceeding with your nomination, please read the following.

- All proposals must meet the basic selection criteria outlined on our Propose a Plaque page.
- Please use Find a Plaque on the blue plaques website to check that your nominee doesn't already have a plaque under our scheme (<http://www.english-heritage.org.uk/visit/blue-plaques/#section1>)
- Your nominee(s) may have been proposed in the past. If already shortlisted you do not need to proceed further. If previously nominated but turned down within the last ten years, we will be unable to reconsider them. Please e-mail the blue plaques office at the address below to find out before completing the form.

Guidance note

- This is a highly competitive scheme. Nominations are subject to thorough historical research and discussion, and may be turned down for many reasons: for example, if a subject's historical significance is felt to be insufficiently clear, and if the connection to a surviving London building is not strong enough.
- Proposers (individuals or organisations) are limited to the nomination of one plaque in any calendar year.
- Please note that even if all the selection criteria are met, English Heritage reserves the right to determine priorities among nominations on the basis of the expert advice provided by our Blue Plaques Panel.

If you have any queries or require further information, please contact the Blue Plaques Team at Blue.Plaques@english-heritage.org.uk

What happens next

Thank you for submitting a nomination form to English Heritage blue plaques. The form will be checked and researched for biographical and address evidence. If the nomination is accepted as valid, the proposer will be informed of the date of the Blue Plaques Panel meeting at which the suggestion will be considered. The Panel members meet three times a year, and may turn down, request further research to be provided before a decision can be made, or approve the suggestion for shortlisting.

You (the proposer) will be informed of the result by letter, and if the suggestion is approved for shortlisting, full historical address and biographical research is prepared by English Heritage Historians, for final Panel approval.

Please be aware that the large number of pending cases received for nomination, plus those already on the shortlist, means that the process takes some time. The subsequent business of gaining the necessary consent for the plaque to go up can also be lengthy and is not always successful. From nomination, it takes an average of three to five years for a plaque to be installed. Unveilings and special events to commemorate a new plaque are organised in partnership with the proposer and external supporters, and we welcome the opportunity to develop ideas to promote the blue plaques scheme. English Heritage is a charity and supported by public donations.

As English Heritage is subject to the Freedom of Information Act the information that you provide to us may become publically available. Any disclosures that are made will be in line with the Data Protection Act 1998. The information that you give us will also be kept in line with that Act and only used in relation to your nomination. It will not be provided to third parties.

If you have any questions while completing the Form or on the Blue Plaques Scheme please email: Blue.Plaques@english-heritage.org.uk. We look forward to hearing from you.
